TAX RECEIPTS BIGGEST NEWS IN WASHINGTON

If 1927 Revenues Run Ahead of 1926 Business Depression Will Be Discredited

TREASURY REPORTS
If Receipts Are Like Treasury
Estimates, 1927 Was Bad
Year for Business

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1928, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington — Unquestionably the biggest piece of news that Washington has had for the business world in many months is the data on tax receipts.

If the revenues for 1927 run ahead of 1926, the prospects of business depression will be completely discredited. If the tax receipts are as estimated by the treasury, the theory that in many respects 1927 was a bad year for business generally will be to some extent confirmed and congress will be cautious about expecting a law reducing rates at a time when future receipts are believed uncertain.

The battle of figures and estimates has a significance other than tax reduction. It relates to government expenditure. Flood control appropriations and many other items now held in abeyance to see how much money will be available depend on what the prospective surplus of receipts over expenditures will be.

AHEAD OF LAST YEAR
Just how the receipts are running ahead of last year by more than $100,000,000. If this ratio is maintained, the treasury will have to admit that a tax reduction of $225,000,000 is possible instead of a $300,000,000 cut will have been proved extravagant in their conjectures. As a matter of fact a leeway of $100,000,000 in treasury estimates would be counted by the treasury as within the bounds of conservatism, especially as the treasury knows it must always face the desire of congress to increase the tax cut.

What treasury officials were really fighting was the group, advocating $400,000,000 or over. And if the tax cut is increased by $100,000,000 when the actual returns come in, the treasury is likely to consider its position thoroughly vindicated.

Entirely apart from the merits of this academic controversy on who was right or wrong in his guess, there is a comfortable feeling in Washington that congress was content to wait for the actual figures and that the appropriations will not depend on guesswork. With a definite sum to spend, the problem of getting a tax bill passed will be a contest of priorities and a question of how the tax cut will be distributed and the capital votes on various provisions in the house of representatives show the trend of tax revision.

As a barometer of business, tax receipts always have been regarded as having some value. Generally speaking, the impression that the closing months of 1927 were not favorable had a psychological effect on business plans for the early part of 1928. If the receipts should show that much of the talk was unfounded and that 1927 was a business year, a better year than 1926, the opportunity for the president to sell his philosophy to the business world will be correspondingly diminished. Tax receipts, especially corporation returns have become a measure of business efficiency as well as a prospect for the future. Because the final figures will be ready for analysis much before the middle of April, though the treasury is receiving telegraphic reports from various collection districts and should have approximate figures within the next ten days.

the petition by which the farmers made their allegations known, because most of the farmers denied some of the charges made in the petition. The

SCREEN ACTRESS WANTS

Hollywood, Cal. — (P) — Ten weeks and George Joseph Hanson, oil well supply dealer and sportsman, were married here.

Twelve days ago Miss Mahaffey instituted divorce proceedings. She alleged her husband for months invited her the interior, in a message to Chairman the naval oil reserve lease case. How-committee. And he's going to tell the whole story, he says, not just part of it.

GANGLEADER MURDERED BY AUTO SLAYERS

Diamond Joe Esposito, Denver Supporter, Shot from Behind by Chicago Foes

Chicago — (P) — Gangland's threeway combination of death—guns, gunmen and a motorcar—have ended the crowded life of Diamond Joe Esposito, 55, whose meteoric career began as a day laborer in Brooklyn and ended as a Chicago political boss.

Fifty shotgun slugs were fired into Diamond Joe's body Wednesday night as he was returning from a meeting of the political group with which he was affiliated—the United States senator Deeney, or Anti-Thompson faction.

Three men shot him from behind.
As he lay dying one pumped an extra charge from a double-barreled gun into his back. Then they fled in an automobile.

WARNED TO GET OUT
Wednesday Joe had been warned over the telephone to "get out of town or get killed." Less than a month ago, Philip Leonetti, who married Mrs. Esposito's sister, was slain in the same neighborhood, known as the old "Bloody Nineteenth," but now a part of the 6th ward.

Police believed warfare over liquor privileges was the cause of his death.
Joseph P. Savage, opponent of Esposito in the coming primaries said:
"Diamond Joe was murdered as a result of Senator Deeney's effort to use prohibition enforcement as a political measure before election."

HAD MADE FORTUNE
Mrs. Esposito heard the shots that killed her husband and ran to the street to find him dying. He was dressed in his best clothes. On his finger was a diamond ring valued at $5,000. Through the blood and dirt glistened his famous diamond buckle and in his pockets were several hundred dollars and bankbooks showing large balances.

SENATORS GET READY TO VOTE

Couzens Launches New Attack in Which He Says Mellon Is "Totally Unfit"

BULLETIN
Washington — (P) — After provoking two hours of sharp debate Thursday in the senate, the Couzens resolution proposing the resignation of Secretary Mellon was sent to the calendar au-tomatically under the rules and it may be days if not weeks before it can again be brought up.

Washington — (P) — Urging adoption of his resolution declaring the senate in favor of the resignation of secretary Mellon, Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, Thursday declared in the senate that the treasury head had proven himself "totally unfit" to hold office.

Taking the floor soon after indications had come from the treasury that Mr. Mellon would not resign, regardless of the outcome of the senate vote, unless requested to do so by the president, the Michigan senator said Mellon had been appealed to by Will H. Hayes, former chairman of the Republican national committee to help "conceal" part of Harry F. Sinclair's $160,000 contribution to the Republican 1920 campaign deficit.

He recalled that Mellon had declined to accept the $50,000 Sinclair bonds brought to him by Hayes to be exchanged for a campaign contribution, but that the secretary had refused to tell of the incident.

"Only death finally forced him to talk," Couzens said. "A note on a paper of a dead man, Mr. Pratt, saying 'Andy' brought out the story of how Mr. Mellon had been tendered these bonds."

The Michigan senator then went into a detailed discussion of Mr. Mel-lon's testimony recently before the senate oil committee.

MOTHER OF FAMOUS MARY
PICKFORD DIES AT HOME

Los Angeles — (P) — Mrs. Charlotte midnight Wednesday. She had been suffering from a lingering illness for some time.

Miss Pickford was at the bedside of her mother at the latter's Beverly growth was reported to have been the cause of her death. She was 65 years old.

Mrs. Pickford, whose name formerly was Charlotte Smith, was the mother of three motion picture stars—Mary, Lottie and Jack Pickford. The latter also became widely known in vaudeville. A sister and two nieces also survive.

The mother of movieland's best

Canada, Sept. 3, 1872, and was married there to John Smith, of that city, when she was 19 years old. All of roomers to leave, many of them only partially dressed, until the blaze could be controlled. It took only 15 minutes to get the fire under control, and the roomers returned. The loss was estimated at $5,000.

REBEL ACTIVITIES TROUBLE MEXICANS

Insurgents Continue to Dynamize Trains and Attack Passengers

Mexico City — (P) — Disorders in the state of Jalisco, center of insurgent activities, Thursday continued to plague the Mexican government.

El Universal Grafico, a newspaper, said two trains were dynamited and attacked in the district. A Mexican second class passenger was reported to have been killed but guards in the trains saved most of the passengers from harm.

The paper said that Eduardo Gomez was understood to have been killed in an attack on a train between Tonila and Villagras. Dynamite bombs, placed between the rails, exploded and tore up the right of way.
Some coaches were derailed and others damaged. The attacking party then fired upon the train. Soldiers gave battle and apparently routed them.

NO ONE KILLED
Headquarters of the Mexican National Railroads admitted that a train had been attacked near Tonila, but said only one person had been injured and no one killed.

Advices from Guadalajara said that in a seven-hour battle near Atotonilco 35 of a band of 200 insurgents were slain.

WITHHOLD VERDICT IN GAYS MILLS DROWNING

Gays Mills — (P) — Verdict of the coroner's jury was withheld pending further investigation following Sunday Wednesday into the death of Peter Freasch, 26, whose body was taken from the Kickapoo river. A friend of Freasch testified he toppled accidentally from a boat in which they were crossing the river Sunday, but physicians, who performed an autopsy reported they found no water in his lungs. The dead man's vital organs will be sent to Madison for an examination by state pathologists.

Freasch's body was found Wednesday after villagers had dragged the river for nearly two days. It was not far from the point where he is supposed to have fallen in.

Further investigation Wednesday revealed authorities said, that Freasch and James Holmes had been drinking at the home of Harry Smith, a friend across the river, before the accident.
Five bullet holes in the ceiling of a room in the Smith home were found.
Smith admitted firing the shots but no tangible reasons were given by him for the shooting.

START CONCRETE WORK ON LITTLE CHUTE BRIDGE

Filling in back of the north rest for the bridge under construction across the Fox river canal at Little Chute was completed Wednesday, according to Frank M. Charlesworth, engineer, and pouring of concrete for the floor of the machinery and pier started Thursday mornings and pieces in the south side of the river also will be poured this week.

All work below the water level will be completed before the navigation season opens, according to Mr. Charlesworth, so that the construction will not interfere with traffic on the river. Steel work on the bridge probably will not start, however, until June. The span will be constructed so the work will not interfere with navigation.

Goitre Not a Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery
Milwaukee, Wis. — It has been brought to light by scientific research, that goitre is not a disease and not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. 630, Box 137, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention to matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. RAILROAD COMPANY LOOKS IN FUTURE AS IT BUILDS VIADUCT

Abutments and Pier Will Be Constructed for Double Track When Required

The Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co. plans for its portion of the viaduct over E. Wisconsin-ave. now on file in the city engineer's office here, indicate that railway engineers considered the possibility of double track when they prepared their specifications for the structure. The abutments on each side of the viaduct and the center pier supporting the tracks are to be built to permit an addition in the future so another track can be laid west of the present rails.

The railroad company's plans show that the abutments to be built this year will be just long enough to adequately support the necessary steel work. The abutment on the north side of the road will be 57 feet 1 inch long, 13 feet wide at the base and 24.6 feet high from the bottom of the base to the highest point. The base will be 6 feet below the surface of the pavement.

The portion of abutment above the pavement will be 8 1/2 feet wide at the base. The remaining 4 1/2 feet will be used for a 4 foot side walk and for drain vents in the rear.

The inside of the abutment, facing the street, will be perpendicular to a few feet from the top where there will be an indentation in which the steel girders supporting tracks will be laid.

Beginning at an 8 1/2 foot width at the bottom, the abutment will taper to 4 feet 7 inches wide about midway to the top and then retains that width.

Two 58 1/2 foot steel spans from the abutments to the center pier will support the railroad's tracks. There will be 11 feet of clearance from the low point on the steel to the highest point on the pavement.

The west base for the center pier will be a series of cones 17, 12 and 8 feet square respectively, on which a steel girder, 8 feet wide will rest. The east base is smaller, being made of cones 12 and 7 feet square while the third is 3 feet by 2 1/4 feet.

The contract for the railroad's construction work has already been let to the S. G. Cool company, Chicago.

Detailed plans of the city's part in the subway are now being prepared in the city engineer's office.

Enough Workers At Capitol To Make City Of Their Own

Madison — (P) — A sufficient number of persons inhabit Wisconsin's capitol building to populate a small city. More than eleven hundred state officials and employees spend at least 5 hours each day in the state house, according to C. B. Ballard, superintendent of public property.

A sizeable suburb could be peopled with the 800 employees who are housed about the city of Madison in capitol "annexes" or adjuncts.

This mythical city, composed of those who carry on the official business of Wisconsin, already has a civic organization, conducted on rather paternalistic lines.

A "housing committee," composed of the governor, the superintendent of public property and the state chief engineer, tells each "family" where it may live.

In the committee's vested final authority to say which office or desk space each department or official may occupy. So the circuit court ruled recently in mandamus action instituted by the attorney general, the state treasurer and the secretary of state, in effort to compel the committee to restore the land commission to its former office. The three constitutional officers plan to appeal from the committee's ruling that the housing committee possesses absolute authority.

The city of state workers has its own police force, telephone switchboard, fire apparatus, heating system, guides, scrubwoman, gardeners, printing board, and numerous other facilities essential to modern civic life.

The monthly payroll of the "city administration" exceeds $3,000. Mr. Ballard says, which is the sum paid by the state in salaries for this department—that of public property. This amount includes monthly compensation of all who work for the state workers, from the superintendent of public property to the maids in the gubernatorial residence.

For the stranger within the gates of the "city," the state provides guides who conduct them about the capitol "municipality," explaining each point of interest.

DISTRIBUTE RULES ON HOW TO DISPLAY FLAG
Burlington — (P) — The Wisconsin department of the American Legion through its Americanism committee, is making a strenuous effort to bring about a more thorough understanding of the rules relating to the display of the flag. Their program is to give to schools framed copies of the flag code, with colored illustrations, showing the proper method of displaying Old Glory.

O. C. Huett, of this city, chairman of the state Americanism committee, states that an order has been placed by the state department for 2,000 of these posters, which are 15x15 inches. Many posts throughout the state will receive posters as a reward for their membership activities.

Other posts will have an opportunity of purchasing them at cost and distributing them to the schools of their community. It is the aim of the committee to place one of these posters in every school in the state.

CITY PAID $7,104 TO CARE FOR POOR DURING PAST YEAR

Report of Poor Commissioner Shows 84 Cases Were Taken Care of

The city of Appleton spent $7,104.68 adding the poor last year, according to the annual report of E. G. Schueler, poor commissioner. Total expenditures were $10,436.56, cash credits amounting to $3,331.88 bringing the net cost down to a little more than seven thousand dollars. Outdoor relief, which includes the expenses of the city poor commissioner's office, amounted to $6,039.47 of which there was an offset of $806.16 in credits. The city home cost $4,406.09 for which there was an offset of $2,555.72.

Poor families in the city received $985.50 for rents, $551.00 for board, $854.42 for groceries, $1,723.19 for fuel, $117.33 for drugs, $92.55 for hospital care, $98.11 for direct financial aid and $80 was expended on funerals.

The remainder of the expenditures were divided among minor items.

Among the items of expenditure at the city home there were $890.43 for groceries, $480.52 for meats, $636.87 for fuel, $132.46 for drugs, $154.39 for dry goods and cloth, $50 for funeral expenses and $10 for mirtment.

$120.50 for general supplies and $237.16 for the garage and stables.

The statistical report of the poor commissioner shows there were 3 recurrent cases taken care of during the year, 34 new cases and 14 non-resident cases, making a total of 51 cases handled. Three hundred and sixty-two persons were taken care of, 242 children, 67 women and 53 men. Only 32 of the families were those of foreigners. Fifty cases were of married couples, six were single persons, nine were widows, seven were widowers and 12 were caused by abandonment.

Gas Forces Woman To Sleep In Chair

"Nights I had to sit up in a chair. I had stomach gas so bad. I took Adierika and nothing I eat hurts me now and I sleep fine."—Mrs. Glenn Butler.

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, salina, etc., (known as Adierika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels—most medicines act on lower bowels only and remove the matter that often poisons the system for months. Second, Adierika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adierika removes no bad habits, which cause neuritis, flatulency, etc.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, writes: "Adierika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and bacilli."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to exceed Adierika."

J. L. Fickett: "After using Adierika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

It will astonish you the great amounts of poisonous matter Adierika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adierika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists. Sold in Appleton by Voigt's Drug Store, Schmitt Bros. Co. and other druggists adv.

THREE NEENAH BANKS INSTALL TEAR BOMBS

"Grenades" Will Be Used in Case of Robbery or Disturbance

Neenah—The three Neenah banks have adopted the "tear bomb" method of protection against possible hold-ups. The tear gas comes in grenade style, similar to that used in the war. At the least provocation, one of these grenades is thrown upon the floor and makes havoc with anyone in the building by causing tears and burning of the eyes so that the parties are rendered blind for a short time.

The State bank has had that protection upon its safe doors for some time, the doors being equipped with bombs which will explode and spread tear gas about at the least touch after it has been closed for the night.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent stimulant, drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Smith of Appleton, pastor grand patron.

COUNCILMEN DISCUSS SEWER CONSTRUCTION AND SPRING PAVING

McGillan Wants to Relieve Situation Before State Takes Action

In the spring time a city council's thoughts lightly turn to sewers, to paraphrase a familiar saying. At Wednesday evening meeting of the city council a discussion of storm sewer extensions and sewers generally took up most of the time.

The first resolution for sewers came when the report of the street and bridge committee recommending a sewer extension on E. John-st from S. River-st to Weimar-st was made. The city clerk also had on hand at that time a remonstrance against the sewer signed by six property holders on one side of the street.

Alderman McGillan from the Fourth ward answered the remonstrance by saying that the signers were persons who owned property along John-st but considered their property to be farmland and added that they probably had no actual need for a sewer.

However, he stated, just across the street there was a number of residences, and during the spring basements are flooded with water and some action should be taken to immediately relieve the situation. He added that if the matter were not remedied and the case referred to the state health department the city might be forced to take action. The report was adopted and a second resolution adopted ordering the city engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the sewer.

The second sewer problem which brought for the considerable discussion was the opinion of the city engineer that a sewer should be built in a number of streets in the upper Fifth ward. An opinion on the matter had been requested by Alderman Vanderheyden at the last meeting of the council two weeks ago.

Sewers in this district would total about 4,000 feet, it was estimated, and if put in as recommended by a sewer engineer's survey several years ago, would cost in the neighborhood of $24,000. Few of the aldermen approved such a program in view of the fact that the budget, as planned last December, did not contemplate the expenditure. The result of the discussion was that Alderman Vanderheyden suggested the engineer ascertain how much of the sewer was needed to relieve flood water conditions in the district.

A sewer extension on W. Second-st at the request of George Spoel, living at the far end of the street, also brought forth discussion. The cost of tunnelling under the railroad tracks and opening the street, was the main argument. The matter finally was referred to a committee.

Other sewer projects presented to the council and either turned over to committees or plans approved, are In Spring-st, from N. Division to Clark-st; Levi-st to the city limits; Randall-st, Morrison to N. Durkee; and Levi-st, Morrison to Oneida;

Sidewalks were recommended on the north and south sides of Pine-st, from S. Mason to S. Outagamie-st, and on the east side of N. Bennett-st from W. Oklahoma to W. Winnebago-co. Plans were approved for paving one block on S. Summit-st, from W. Fourth to W. Prospect-ave.

A resolution by Alderman Catlin providing that all businesses, operating as such when the zoning ordinance went into effect, be not subject to the provisions of the zoning ordinance was read and referred to the proper committee. Alderman Catlin was not present at the meeting. Two other resolutions petitioning for changes in the zoning law also were read.

The council also voted to approve reinforced, concrete pavement for Water-st and Wisconsin-ave and awarded the contract for redecorating the interior of the police station to the Badger Decorating company.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with "colic" pills.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, dazed feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 20c, 60c. adv.

WOMEN ATTEMPT TO MURDER POLICEMAN

Relatives of Dead Girl Attack Man Acquitted of Her Slaying

Columbiana, Ala. — (P) — H. F. Blake, Calera chief of police, was fired at and then stabbed by two women in circuit court here Thursday. Just after he had been acquitted of the murder of their relative, Miss Louise Montebardo.

Mrs. Mabel Montebardo, mother of the girl, fired a pistol from a distance of about five feet as Blake was being congratulated by his friends. The shot went wild. Miss Cecil Tubbs, an aunt of the girl, leaped at the police chief, drawing a knife as she lunged herself toward him and stabbed him in the neck. Blake fell, the blood streaming from the wound.

COURT IN TURMOIL

The court room was in turmoil in a moment and Charlie C. McCall, state attorney general, who had personally prosecuted Blake, fainted from the excitement.

Blake was taken to a hospital, where physicians said his wound was serious. The knife wound was about 2 inches long and 2 inches deep. After a preliminary examination an ambulance was called and he was started for a hospital in Birmingham.

FURTHER INVESTIGATION

We think the public will heartily endorse the decision of the senate investigating committee to examine into the sale by President Harding two months before his death of his newspaper, The Marion Star, and examine as well into the suggestion that President Harding somehow or other profited by the corrupt conduct of his cabinet members, Fall and Daugherty.

Men who had the opportunity of knowing Harding best, political opponents many of them, assert an abiding confidence in his honesty and integrity, and these men too knew his dominant weakness, an over-confidence in those who had befriended him.

There is no question but that President Harding was used by his friends and used shamefully. There is no question but that under his administration corruption ran riot in the national capital. There is no question that two members of his cabinet were common, ordinary, cheap crooks. That is a harsh term but it is the truth.

There was the asserted claim that in the sale of The Marion Star President Harding received a sum of money said to be beyond the fair price of the newspaper. That may very well be accounted for in the desire of the purchasers to own a newspaper whose history has been associated with a president of the United States. That very association gave the newspaper a standing and an influence difficult to appraise in money, but yet worth more than a newspaper without that association or influence. It could readily account for what might otherwise be thought to be an exorbitant price. The president of the company that now publishes The Marion Star said: "I emphatically urge the friends of the late President Harding to get behind the investigation of anything and everything pertaining to Mr. Harding's affairs in connection with this investigation. Let us, for the sake of square-shooting and in fairness to the memory of President Harding, bring this thing right out in the open and go straight through it."

That statement has a sound ring. It appears to be the statement of one who knows that the transaction was clean and prefers putting the facts before the public rather than listening to sly innuendo and constant hints of corruption.

There is nothing so villainous as a campaign of whispering. The people have the right to know the truth and all the truth. It may very well help to guide them in the future. At the same time, should these whisperings prove baseless, it will serve to clear the memory of a man who suffered much, intensely, because of the perfidy of men he trusted.

In this respect the attitude of two members of the investigating committee suggests comment. It was Senator Nye of North Dakota who gave publicity to the purpose of the committee to investigate along the lines suggested, although Nye hastened to state that he did not believe from the evidence at hand that President Harding was involved. This sort of publicity, in advance of tangible evidence, was scored by Senator Walsh, chairman of the committee, in language that indicates his conception of the high purpose of such an investigation and the duty of members of the committee not to injure others through mere loose talking. Walsh said: "It is singularly unfortunate that publicity should have been given to some of the plans of the committee, or what individual members conceived to be its plans, and equally that there should be allowed to become public information affecting priceless reputations until it is confirmed upon inquiry to such an extent as to warrant the development of the facts through witnesses."

This statement serves to increase confidence in Walsh's fairness and dependability. Reputations, and memories too, are priceless to him and he declines to become a member of the whispering choir. He seeks evidence and it is evidence the public wants.

IMMIGRATION QUOTAS

Congress again faces the same difficult situation it faced a year ago, or should we say refused to face a year ago? At that time congress took refuge in postponing for one year the adoption of the national origins basis as a means of determining immigration quotas. While it may have been a possible bomb a year ago, its destructive quality at this time could better be likened to a healthy portion of TNT. It is said that at least one hundred congressmen representing districts in which some classes of immigrants and their descendants are numerous are exceedingly eager that the day of reckoning shall be still further postponed, and if possible eventually completely avoided.

Under the law as it now operates the number of immigrants admitted from each country is 2 per cent of the number of natives of that country who were living in the United States according to the census of 1890; the "national origins" basis which should go into effect on July 1st would materially diminish the present quotas of some countries while at the same time correspondingly increasing the quotas of others. By the new method of determination especially the German and the Scandinavian quotas would be reduced and it can readily be understood why congressmen from districts whose populations are largely composed of these nationalities should look with dismay on the very probable alienation of votes from representatives who permit this outrage to their feelings.

Two avenues of escape are open to the distressed gentlemen: Congress can repeat its action of a year ago postponing the operation of the national origins clause for another twelve months, or, what would please them infinitely better, it can pass a bill rendering it permanently inoperative. It will be interesting to see whether this fairer method of determination can be defeated by selfish private and personal interests.

KNOW YOUR CITY GOVERNMENT

A small community that governs itself by the manager and commissioner system is to be educated in the activities of all its municipal departments. A series of letters is being prepared and sent to citizens, telling facts which should be helpful in gaining an understanding of municipal government and public utilities.

The first letter, for example, dealt with the work of the water department. Among other items, it stated that a faucet leak of only one thirty-second of an inch would waste 3,780 cubic feet of water in six months. That waste would cost the consumer $4.35. Citizens were advised to pay attention to their water meters and to report leaks or unreasonably large water consumption so that the department could investigate.

Letters about other departments will follow in regular succession. The manager says: "It is hoped that these letters will be of as much benefit to you as they will be to us if they increase your interest in municipal affairs and result in your sending the city officials your suggestions and constructive criticism in regard to municipal affairs and services."

Increased interest in public affairs is the aim of honest and intelligent officials. They know that they cannot accomplish the best results in running a city without popular interest, understanding and support. Indifference and cynicism on the part of citizens are two of the chief things ailing American public life today.

FEMININE DIPLOMATS

The French government is going to admit women to its diplomatic service. Now there will be a lot of harping on the old wheeze that women can't keep a secret. But diplomacy is more open than it used to be. And besides, women have been maligned in that respect. Their accusers are too often men who abuse them for revealing things the men themselves never should have told.

Women are natural diplomats. It is strange the world has been so slow to appreciate that fact, when it is in evidence every day in almost every home.

Women have a gift for preserving amenities, for doing the tactful and intelligent thing about human relations, for conciliating and persuading, for maintaining peace in and between families, for establishing friendly contacts, for getting along with neighbors. As international diplomats, they will merely have a larger sphere for their normal activities.

Eight thousand acres of forest land, including 75 acres of virgin and unmixt white pine, have been presented to the State of Michigan for preservation as a state park.

The principal language of Central America is Spanish.

Nearly three million acres have been acquired or are now being acquired for eastern national forests.

Wisconsin farms occupy 22,000,000 acres of land.

WHERE DO THEY GET THIS HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE?

Nearly every day my mail brings requests for "literature on high blood pressure" or "tips for the control of high blood pressure."

It seems to make mine run a bit high. It provokes me, first, that readers imagine blood pressure is a disease or a condition that they assume I distribute morbid information. This high blood pressure that seems popular is to the best of my knowledge a complaint. Josh Billings was no doctor, but he made a wise diagnosis when he said: "It's a little with a lot of the plain people, as they much which ain't so."

Who started this high blood pressure fad? Well, that's hard to determine now. I have a pretty good idea as to who keeps going, and I hope you will credit me with a little more credit. I hope you will credit me with a little more credit. I hope you will credit me with a little more credit.

First, then, the quacks, both within and the ranks of regular medicine, find it to be a test to keep folks worrying about high blood pressure. I am not sure of the fact, but I believe meaning physicians have half heartedly the notion that high blood pressure is so a disease or ailment in itself, they call it "hypertension" when they fail to discover just the patient, however, it is the quack whoop the high blood pressure business main.

Then there is a second factor that perhaps more influence than the quack advertising, to pamphlets or articles or books about high blood pressure. These are all written by authors who are not physicians, but if they are they are doctors without the groundwork of science to stabilize their ideas or theories. Right is a serious flaw in much of the popular medical literature of the day; it is written by brilliant literary men, fine writers, but they mix with little or no experience in the practice of medicine or health. Such authors out the stuff about high blood pressure.

I suppose it is quite necessary for me to say that I do not intend to imply that blood pressure is never high or too high. High blood pressure is a real earnest seeker for health. It is ally for the patient or waiting for the doctor to give him a single thought. It is to trifle with any kind of diet, treatment given purporting to have any particular of blood pressure. One should leave considerable things as blood pressure, basal metabolism, chemistry, entirely to the doctor and his clan. I am convinced that the layman who he can "control high blood pressure" is as unbecome as the layman who fusses about uric acid or acidosis, all on his own.

Of course no doctor can advise or treat a patient for "high blood pressure," unless the doctor first determines what, if anything, all this dunder.

New York—When Grand Central station gets a moving picture theater in the course of another year, it will have within its solid walls practically every attraction and business to be found in the city and business and pleasure outside. If someone thinks of putting in a bowling alley, the gamut will have just about been run.

It is possible for an individual to spend many a week in active amusement and business without leaving its sprawling borders—provided, of course, that he is content to go through the catacombs that lead to the adjoining hotel when bed time comes.

And in his journey, the pilgrim would find himself faced with the wares of every land and clime. For the cavernous passages which line Grand Central cater to the eyes of the world, and all the world passes by—coming and going; everlastingly coming and going... something like 54,000,000 people a year... something like 13,000,000 whom are visitors.

The pilgrim who would make his progress through Grand Central station can find fags from Syria and dices from the Holy Land; he can find shoes where a single level would take his fortune or where he can buy money flairs for a quarter; he can find flowers fresh from the hothouses of Long Island or rare and costly novelties from Russia or Paris; he can buy his clothes and his shoes; he can eat at a lunch counter, an elaborate cafe or the best oyster stew emporium in Manhattan; he can attend an art show where one of the largest exhibits in Manhattan is ever under way; he can shoot pool or billiards and he can be manicured and shaved. He can find book shops and circulating libraries. He can catch trains that start him for the four corners of the earth, or he can loaf in a smoking room and read his home town paper at the news stand.

He can find a great ball room to dance in and he can hire a public stenographer to take his business letters. He can consult a lawyer, a doctor or a dentist; he can discuss real estate deals or business contracts. He can spend his life without leaving the building and have most of the advantages enjoyed by the man outside, for he could exercise in the gymnasium and get his bath and rubdown.

When the movies move into Grand Central Station in the course of a year it will be the beginning of a string of movie theatres in all the large stations of America. Waiting for a train, the impatient traveler can kill time in the little theatres, which will function for 48 hours out of 48, since trains run the full gamut of the clock. The pictures will be short subjects, so that the traveler can get in and out. The idea is that of a former newspaperman—Austin Parker who, if I remember, I have encountered while he was running about for a wire service.

Paris Jewelry Designers Featuring Crystal in Modern Jewelry

Crystal is the temporary keynote of modern jewelry. French master designers are using it in a multiplicity of forms for chains and pendants, rings and earrings and many brooch forms that are such an important part of modern jewelry.

A lovely and frequently seen chain of strung crystal beads supports a large crystal ring from which a pear-shaped crystal "pearl" is suspended. Chain and large ring are joined by small crystal slides, the pendant giving the effect of being carved from a single piece of crystal.

Crystal rings for both men and women are shown in many forms. Mountings of onyx and gems are frequent. Fouquet has a lady's crystal ring with a round topaz surrounded by small diamonds and an oblong topaz set in a thin line of jade on crystal. Another big house shows an emerald set in a ring of jade. The majority of such rings, however, are plain crystal with a square or circle of onyx set in them. Some have carvings instead of settings.

One of the prettiest ideas for watch pendants recently developed is the crystal ring suspended from a slender black silk cord. It has jeweled slides for the cord and a small diamond encrusted watch which is meant to be worn with the open face next to the individual.

Crystal circlets are the newest ear-ring form and are much worn, not only as earrings, but also as ornaments sewed to the new cap-fitting spring hats.

An amusing novelty introduced by a Parisian jeweler is a dinner ring with detachable center stone which can be changed to match the wearer's gown. The colored stone is affixed in a square border setting of small diamonds. These rings are called detachable and are having some success.

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

ON—

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU EAT

Washington, D. C. — The average citizen who goes into a restaurant or hotel dining room and takes a diet of strawberries and discovers, that along the luscious fruit, he has been given a tack to eat, with resultant injury to his mouth, may think he has grounds for a damage suit against the proprietor of the place. Such is not necessarily true, however, according to a decision of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.

The unfortunate customer of the food purveyor might swallow the tack, and die as a direct result, and his dependents could not go into court and collect damages. That is, they could not unless they could prove that the restaurant or hotel proprietor had been negligent in serving tacks with strawberries.

This holds true for other food served in public eating places that may prove to be injurious to those who eat it. Strawberries and tacks are mentioned specifically merely because they happened to be involved in the case which the court has just decided. The nub of the decision is that a restaurant keeper is not an insurer of all the food he serves, and that an action for damages will not lie against him unless it be shown that he did not exercise due care in furnishing and serving the food.

In the case in question, Sarah Lieber on May 12, 1926, in Philadelphia, went into a restaurant conducted by the Horn & Harland Baking Company and ordered a dish of strawberries. While eating the berries she felt a sharp pain in her gum and found that it had been caused by a tack or small nail such as is used in making berry baskets. She brought a suit for damages in a state court, but the case was removed to the Federal court upon the showing by the defendant company that it was a corporation citizen of another State. The trial court gave the plaintiff a judgment for $50, whereupon the defendant carried the case to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

NO QUESTION AS TO THE FACTS. No question was raised as to the facts in the case, the question involved being solely as to whether the facts showed negligence on the part of the restaurant keeper. Attorneys for the plaintiff contended that they did, on the ground, first, that the berries were absolutely free of the presence of the tack, and second that the mishap of the plaintiff was itself proof of negligence.

In the opinion of the Court of Appeals, which was delivered by Judge Duffington, short shrift was given the first contention. "We are clear," said the court, "that under the authorities an innkeeper is not the insurer of food, but his duty is that of exercise.

DAILY HINTS FOR HEALTH

TREMEMDOUS SUM SPENT ANNUALLY FOR HEALTH BY DR. MORRIS FISHERIN

Editorial Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

A recent survey by the statisticians of one of the largest insurance companies in the United States gives an inkling of the amount of money spent on the care of public health of the United States.

In this are involved at least 150,000 physicians, 50,000 dentists, 300,000 nurses and at least 100,000 additional attendants of various kinds. The costs of hospitals, convalescent homes, drugs, bandages and surgical appliances make an estimate of approximately $2,000,000,000 a year, representing 1.2 per cent of the total income of the country as an approximate cost of sickness.

COST OF SICKNESS. Unfortunately exact information is not yet available as to how much sickness costs the average family each year. Indeed, there is not any information as to how much any group in the community actually pays for the care of its health.

What constitutes due care in furnishing and serving strawberries is detailed in the concluding paragraphs of the Court's opinion:

"Those uncontradicted proofs were that the berries were bought from one of the other of the two dealers of highest repute in the city; that being served they were placed in a colander, washed under pressure of city water, individually hulled, patted in a towel, and placed in individual boxes for serving. The uncontradicted testimony of an expert in such lines was that such was 'the proper and the most suitable way available' and that such 'is the standard method.' Indeed, he said that the fact was misled by assuming the tack was lodged in a berry, point in and head out.

"Of this there was no proof, and in view of the jolts to which a berry crate would ordinarily be subjected in wagon or truck from farm to railroad in loading and unloading from the car, and later in wagon or truck loading, carriage, and unloading from railroad to dealer and from dealer to defendant's restaurant; that in the absence of proof, it is quite as likely, if indeed not more so, that the tack may have been jolted about and finally have become imbedded sideways in a berry and so have been quite hidden from view. It is evident that to hold the defendant guilty of negligence in this case would be to base a verdict on speculation instead of the solid basis of proven negligence. Accordingly the judgment below is reversed."

How it would be possible for a patron to procure evidence that a restaurant keeper had been negligent in serving poisonous or impure food, or strawberries or blueberry pie with tacks in them, since the patron does not have access to the kitchen, or something for the layman to ponder over, and to make him careful of what he eats in public eating places.

A TACK IN BLUEBERRY PIE

One of the precedents cited by the Court was a case in which the presence of a small tack in a blueberry pie was held not to be per se proof of negligence and that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover unless he proved some negligent act by the part of the defendant. Other cases cited were one in which the plaintiff suffered from ptomaine poisoning from eating from the defendant's restaurant, one where food which proved poisonous was served, one where a bone splinter in chicken soup lodged in the plaintiff's throat, and one where the plaintiff was sickened by eating oyster broth.

Seeing, then, continues the opinion, that the defendant was not an insurer of the food furnished, that the presence of the tack, in and of itself was not evidence of negligence, and no other evidence of alleged want of due care on the part of the defendant was shown, it follows that the plaintiff would not have been entitled to have her case submitted to a jury on the issue of negligence unless the proofs on the plaintiff's part evidenced lack of due care. But such was not the case.

YOUNG TENNIS STAR TURNS BACK TILDEN

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—An upsetting battle of accurate net exchanges showed with well placed line shots brought Big Bill Tilden down in his first match of the Davis cup campaign Wednesday. Young Johnny Hornesey of Indianapolis turned the trick. Hornesey, the nation's fifth ranked player, stroked his way to a 6-5, 7-5, 6-3, 6-1 victory over his veteran opponent. Several hundred persons crowded in the galleries while a cold wind swept the courts, which showed frequent intervals to avoid the spiking plays. Tilden snapped many strokes into the net for point losses, especially during the first set.

Gambling On Marriage Is Risky Work

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I SHOULD like to tell young women who have most of their lives ahead of them what I personally believe will be the result of too much gambling on the subject of marriage. It is no news to any of us that this beating about the marriage bush to scare out the bugaboo that causes so much damage has turned into a carnival of experiment. Almost every kind of marriage game to be more popular now than what is known as the old fashioned marriage, the kind that founds a little home, starts out with a baby, then others perhaps, little struggles to keep up appearances, the joy of a new piece of furniture, or a new dress, or suit—company to dinner with the attendant flurry and chucking away and farming out the family or borrowing a neighbor to look after the baby, birthday cakes, Christmas trees, and perhaps that wonderful moment when there can be a bit of a car.

It sounds so unromantic, so commonplace, so un-satisfying! It sounds so middle class, as we like to say these days! So plain, so safe, so safe, so humdrum, so contrary to our ideas of "modern" happiness. Nothing erotic about it, either, and we seem to depend on the erotic a lot nowadays to satisfy longings for thrills. No clandestine meetings, no feeling that you can be let out if the whim seizes you, no ecstatic going with the tide and floating gloriously, neither and you as fancy takes you.

None of that. But this carnival of experiment will cost a price in the end. More perhaps than it is worth. We get nothing for nothing. And its price will be restlessness and unhappiness in middle age. Life passes quickly. I can predict almost positively that twenty years from now, when the girls now twenty will be forty, that those who are happiest, healthiest, and most deeply contented will be those who have chosen the "old-fashioned" way of settling down to a real home, a real husband (permanent) and children (soul-satisfying). That will be hers, too, much more than that of her experimental sister, for there is no satisfaction so deep as that of having spent your life for others as well as yourself. And what worth-while "others" your family is.

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Marye Dear If you were a little girl at home I'd paddle you good for your behavior. As it is I hope you will pay attention to what I have to say to you. I'm not going to scold you because I want you always to tell me your experiences and I'm afraid you wouldn't do that if I censured you.

But I must warn you against deceiving Alan even in little things, Marye. Breaking a promise isn't a little thing, though and I'm sorry you treat it so lightly.

Suppose he learns that you permitted someone to drive you at eighty miles an hour after you had promised him you wouldn't speed? He won't have any peace of mind when you're out of his sight. You're perfectly willing to give up security for thrills, I know, but there isn't much consideration for those who love you in the recklessness of your behavior.

I almost feel like writing Alan not to let you have a car but I guess you would manage to talk him into it anyway. And you might think I'm trying to meddle. Alas, I often have a hard decision to make in regard to your married children, Marye. Our advice to you is sometimes construed as interference but I must risk it now to warn you against the dangers of this new freedom you're so proud of.

What do you suppose that young Bartlett will think of you? Indeed, you are right when you say I wouldn't have called what you did romantic. It would have been bold in my day to lie to an officer and then let a man throw his arms around your shoulders in order to carry out the deception. I'm sure he must have a wrong opinion of you, Marye, and I hope you will let him demonstrate the car to Alan in the future.

And aren't you afraid the officer will find out that you were not telling the truth? I think you're better tell Alan what you did, Marye. There may be trouble over it. You will if you're sincere about this fifty-fifty idea you're always talking about. With deepest love, MOTHER

WOMAN HAS LEPROSY COLONY

That a Miss Riddell, of English, had lived 35 years in a leper colony which she founded in Japan without she or any of her doctors, nurses or attendants contracting the disease, has just been reported. The report, made by Edith Clifton Reed, an English writer, says that Miss Riddell conducts the institution, the Hospital for the Resurrection of Hope, at Kumomoto, on self-governing Christian lines. She planted many of the barren acres with trees and flowers and encourages all able lepers to work in the gardens. Many of the patients are without hands or eyes, but are surrounded by beauty, love and intelligent care.

BE SURE TO HARNONIZE

Accessories for daytime are getting away from the "sets" idea of last summer when bag, purse, scarf, bracelets, shoes and so on all were as identical in pattern and color as possible. It is smarter now to harmonize things rather than to have them all just alike. Of course the catch in that is to make sure everything does "harmonize".

Necklaces in rather short, single strand lengths are the vogue this minute. Crystal chokers are still en vogue—Paris is featuring it in every cut and setting.

I show today a Chanel import that is lovely for evening wear—fashioned of triangular-cut crystals and of a

The harmony of spring accessories: Mildred here wears a Chiffon face of triangular crystals and a bracelet of amethysts, rhinestones, black enamel set florally in silver. BY HENRI BENDEL

New York—Spring is the season when little things hold the stage—all through the realm of nature.

Now the fashion world follows nature. The little things in a costume are even more important this spring. Accessories are, in many instances, the focal point of a costume.

This year accessories need more care in their selection than last year. Just because clothes are becoming dressier, a woman must exercise more restraint in the indispensable extras she buys to go with them. Too ornate a taste in accessories will ruin the most beautiful ensemble.

SHOW IN THE PICTURE

Shown in the picture today is the latest mouchoir—a huge handkerchief of black chiffon, lace and tiny flowers in pastel shades. The size is the first astonishing about evening handkerchiefs. They are big as a man's handkerchief, even bigger. But for daintiness, colorful beauty they remind clouds lit by sunlight. They are the loveliest shades.

A NATURAL JUNE

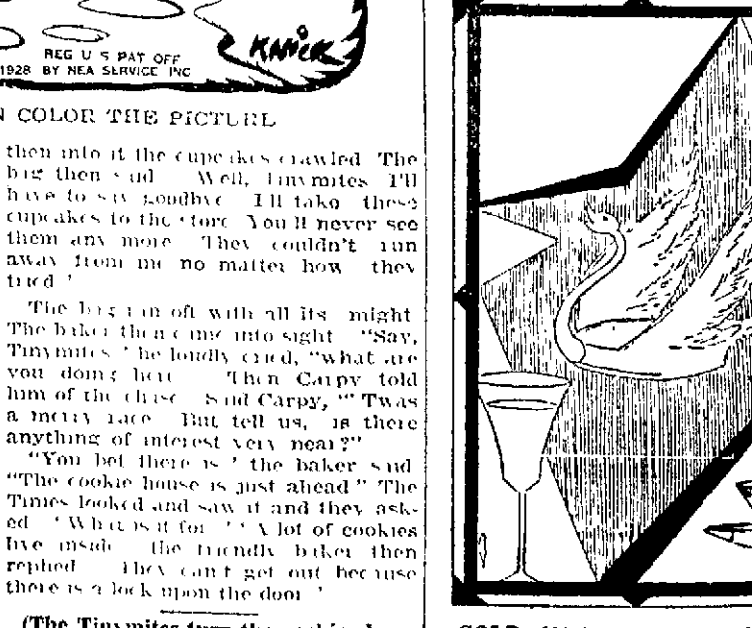

To jump from handkerchiefs to chiefs is a natural thing. This season repeat the geometric terms of last year, only more so to color and line. Or the flowered, daintily, spring-like small flowers that bloom from plain kerchiefs, however, gain a tone deeper or lighter than an ombre shading of color catches all the tones of a dress on a striking note of vivid or a white frock—these are the favorites of kerchiefs this season. The new thing about kerchiefs is they are not loved for themselves now. Rather, a vivid kerchief as a setting for some exquisite brooch, enamel, synthetic and other fancies.

Today I show, gleaming a luxurious silk scarf with spring's greens in its change, or, the newest kerchief pin of maracas, set with tiny rhinestones, set with tiny rhinestones all lead to the center which is a bit of jade.

CALL OFF THE PACK OF CLERKS TO MAKE MONEY

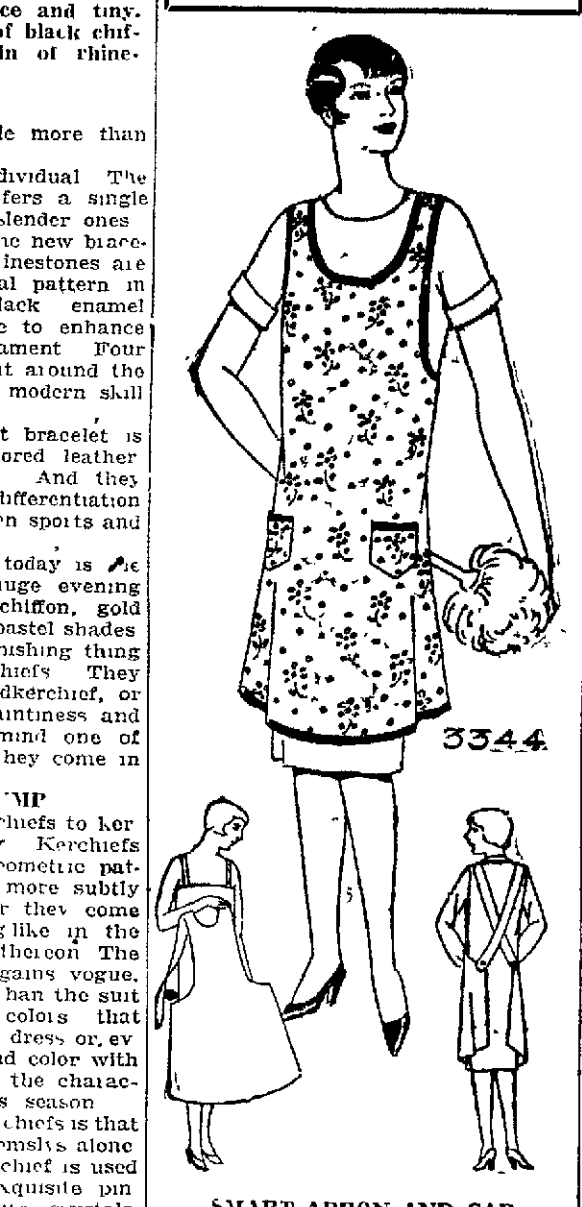

I wonder if clever store managers can't do something about too earnest competition on the part of their sales people, when the result is that the customer is literally hounded to death. I'm a problem. I wandered into the silk department of my favorite store the other day, thinking that an hour's leisurely wandering through the department would enable me to plan the spring wardrobe.

I had every intention of buying materials as soon as I knew what I wanted. But from the minute I got off the elevator I was dogged by first one sales person and then another, all glaring at one another. Just as I tried to cogitate and decide whether a blue or beige print would best harmonize with my left-overs, some helpful clerk would insist on showing "madame" "this charming purple" or this "lovely green" or this "gorgeous cerise," and just as I meditated on whether I most wanted a crepe afternoon dress or a chiffon, up would come somebody with a bolt of "nice serge."

To make a long story short, I couldn't concentrate, as I wasn't let alone long enough. I refused to buy and departed. Must we know exactly what we want before entering stores? Is there no way to make managers see that the chance browse in a silk aisle, for instance, is as necessary to the customer as the chance to browse in the circulating library?

They'd make much more money if they'd call off the pack!

One of the smartest and most serviceable aprons of the season is shown in Style No. 3344. The apron cuts entirely in one piece with strap extensions that cross at center back and button. Cut it out and bind edges, and stitch pockets in place — and it's finished! Think of it! And it's the most remarkable thing about it is that it only takes 2 yards of 36-inch material with 6 1/2 yards of banding for the medium size, the pattern for which comes in small, medium and large sizes. Chambray, plain gingham, printed sateen, plain cotton pongee, cotton broadcloth and English prints are appropriate, and can be had in very attractive colorings. Pattern for one piece cap that fastens at center back and rolls included. Price 35 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). None better made at any price. Our patterns are made by the leading Fashion Designers of New York City and are guaranteed to fit perfectly. In ordering this pattern, we suggest that you enclose 10 cents extra for a copy of our Spring Fashion Magazine, containing photos of No. 1, Tamara, Constance, Madeline, Irene Adolphe, etc., styles of Colleen Moore, Clara Bow, Dorothy Mackall, Billie Dove, Mary Astor, etc., and 100 other styles. WORK DONE IN A MINUTE AND MUCH TIME FOR PLAY

"Work done in a minute and much time for play" is the bungalow motto of a home like "The Vernon."

All on one floor, with ample closet space and built-in breakfast nook, this cute little stucco house with its coxily slanting brown roof challenges a woman to speed up her house hold chores and get time to be herself.

One little comfort is the unexpected den off the living room. Since the greatest problem in a bungalow is sometimes how to get off by one's self away from the family, this extra room will prove a boom to father and mother on one hand and to daughters on the other.

Then there's a sizable verandah and off the kitchen, a smaller but just as acceptable porch. French doors, between rooms inside give more of a sense of space than would wooden doors.

Under it all is a basement, with outside windows—the greatest help in the world to a woman with much to store away. And it is all for a cost of from $6000 to $8000.

For further information concerning "The Vernon," write The Standard Homes Company, Colorado Building, Washington, D. C. (Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)

"Who is She?"

You simply can't keep people from wanting to know who you are when you're as sparklingly fresh and coquely beautiful as dainty Georgette Vorel, lovely New York City girl who lives at 782 Carroll Street, Brooklyn. Every one admires her lovely figure, and her marvellously clear, rose-tinted complexion, but women marvel most at the softness and lustre of her hair.

"I am so busy that I have almost no time to give to my hair," says Miss Vorel, "and I really don't know what I should do about it, if I hadn't learned how so many of my girl friends here in New York are taking care of theirs."

"It's so simple. All you do is put a few dashes of Danderine on your brush each time you use it. This wonderful preparation keeps my hair so soft and lustrous that many friends have commented on it. It makes my scalp feel just grand and all dandruff disappeared with the first few applications. It keeps my hair so clean that I don't have to shampoo nearly so often as I used to."

Danderine isn't oily and doesn't show. It makes hair easy to dress and holds it in place. All drug stores have the 35c bottles. Lovely hair and a healthy scalp for a few cents.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES MEET AT KAUKAUNA FOR SAFETY RALLY

Speeches, Music and Singing Will Entertain Rail Men and Townspeople

Kaukauna—Plans for the Chicago and Northwestern safety rally to be held in this city on Friday afternoon and evening, March 30, have been completed. W. F. Wenter, general claim agent for the Northwestern system and S. Gallaty, assistant claim agent, will be the principal speakers. Both men are well informed in accident prevention and the causes of accidents not only on railroads but in industrial plants. Local speakers are Mayor W. C. Sullivan, R. M. Radach, superintendent of the Tullymullin Sulphate mill and the Rev. R. F. P. Hagman, pastor of the Episcopal church.

The afternoon session will be for departmental foremen of the system who are located in this vicinity and the meeting in the evening will be open to the general public. Phil Gaudette, trainmaster for the Ashland division of the Northwestern, has charge of arrangements for the rally and he announced Wednesday that besides the talks there will be a program of vocal and instrumental entertainment furnished by the Kaukauna Chicago and Northwestern band and men's chorus. The chorus will be directed by C. Clark, foreman of the local shops.

A similar rally was held last year and much cooperation was secured from the local townspeople in making it a success, the railroad official said. W. J. Babler, yardmaster at Kaukauna, has charge of local arrangements.

ROTARIANS URGED TO WATCH THEIR HEALTH

Kaukauna—Dr. A. A. Pleyte of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Kaukauna Rotary club Wednesday noon in the Legion building. His talk was on "Watching Disease" and was part of a health campaign carried on throughout the state by the association. Dr. Pleyte admonished Rotarians to consult a doctor when they feel ill and not wait too long so that nothing can be done. Yearly examinations by competent physicians were suggested as a precaution.

The club nominated the following men for directors: W. P. Hagman, Ben Prugh, Robert P. Brooks, L. F. Nelson, Dale Andrews, Dr. E. J. Bolinski, Dr. C. D. Boyd, H. S. Cooke, Edward Ilaus, Joseph Lefevre, J. O. Fosson, C. D. Towles, William Ashe, Sr. and Frank Charlesworth, Jr. Seven of them will be elected to the board at the next meeting in April. Members of the present board are W. P. Hagman, Ben Prugh, L. F. Nelson, Dr. E. J. Bolinski, Dr. C. D. Boyd, J. O. Fosson and B. W. Fargo.

RAILROAD CHECKS UP ON LONG STOPS

Employees Instructed Not to Block Crossings Longer Than Absolutely Required

Kaukauna—No official complaint about the length of time trains are blocking crossings in the city has been made to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, O. A. Fiedler, local agent for the road, said Wednesday. He explained that a checkup on the number of persons using the streets crossed by the railroad was being made.

Mr. Fiedler said that trains did not block crossings any longer than was necessary and it made it difficult for them to be subjected to local ordinances. The agent pointed out that most of the stops made by long freight trains on the north side was for the purpose of picking up train orders and to cut the train at the crossings in the evening. At least half hour. Then by the time the train was made up again the running orders would be of little use. The railroad company has always instructed its trainmen not to block crossings any longer than is absolutely necessary and in the case of the crossing, where there is considerable traffic, the long freights are always cut.

Where the railroads subjected to the local ordinances of every town and village they passed through much time would be lost and expenses would be increased thereby making it necessary for a higher freight rate to meet them.

APPLETON HIGH TRACKME

Orangemen Must Defend Valley League Pennant Won By 1927 Thinclads

"15-point" Johnston Captains Team Which Will Fight for Second Title

While the basketball suits worn by the 1928 Appleton high school cage squad, which tied for fourth in the Fox River Valley conference, lost two games to Neenah high, N. W. I. conference and Menasha district champs, and won two from Kaukauna high, are being laundered and packed away for another year, another set of suits are being returned to service by the school athletes. For Appleton high won the Valley conference track title last year by a margin of 17 points from the closest of its seven rivals and the crown must be defended with several stars of the title team missing.

Not only did the Orange win the conference title but it was undefeated in five other meets beside, trouncing Wausau high, 67-49; West Green Bay, East Green Bay and Marinette, 48-38; 25-10; West, Manitowish, Fond du Lac, East, Oshkosh and Sheboygan at the Manitowish relay carnival special events, 21-15; 5-5-4-3; Oshkosh, 71-51 and Manitowish, 64-54.

SIX STARS GONE

Six of the eleven letter winners of that team, all point winners and were lost to the 1928 squad. The most severe losses are Navarre, winner of the mile in every meet he ran in last year including the conference event, and holder of the new loop record of 45:2, Steinburg, winner of the 220-yard, low hurdles in the conference meet, and Pfefferle, who starred in every weight event and finished second to Johnston in the shotput in every meet. Navarre in dual meets ran the mile in 4:53.4 and 4:53. Pfefferle broke the 1927 shotput mark of the conference almost every time, but Johnston always beat him out, breaking it by a larger margin.

Other losses are Lutz who placed in the low hurdles in the conference meet and in the dashes in several other meets, McAllister and Rooney 440-yard men, the former a place winner in the conference meet, Stecker, who placed in the high hurdles in the meet and Van Ryin, who though not a letter winner placed in the mile in many of the meets and was only a junior. He left school with a year of competition ahead of him.

SWEDEN IS CAPTAIN

Capt. Swede Johnston, three-record holder, will lead the returning athletes. The Orange leader won the 100-yard dash, shotput and broad jump in every meet he entered last year, setting new loop records of 10.5, 43 feet 8 inches and 21 feet 1½ inches, respectively in the events. Had he been allowed to enter more events he also would have been good for several points in the dashes, which he won in a dual meet, the high jump, the javelin and the 220. He should be a sure 15-point winner for the Orange in every outdoor meet this year.

Next in line is Bob Roemer, 1927 team captain and already a two-letter winner in track. Two years ago he took second in the valley meet in the quarter-mile. Last year transferred to the half, he took second all year to Schroeder, Manitowish star and conference record holder with a 2:75 mark. Once at Manitowish he almost beat Schroeder. This year Schroeder has graduated so that if Bob is up to form he should cop his favorite event most of the season.

Then comes Kruse, who finished second to Herbert West when that athlete set a new record of 1:16 in the 100-yard dash. He tied with Herbert all year, the pair taking turns winning the event after Kruse had opened the season by beating the Purple star in the quadrangle contest at the Bay.

They will clash again this season as Herby also is back. Kruse also placed on the shotput with Johnston and Pfefferle in the Valley meet and he also won points during the year in the high jump and the low hurdles, winning a place the one and only time he attempted the latter event in the last meet of the season at Manitowish. With practice he should be a good man in that event beside the weights and high jump.

POLE VAULT SECOND

Robert Neller and Orville Strutz are the two remaining lettermen returning. Neller tied for first place in the pole vault in the Valley meet with Hunsin of Green Bay, who now is graduated,

BLUE CAPTAIN

JERRY SLAVIC

A sophomore guard and center of Coach A. C. Donny's 1927-28 basketball team, Jerry Slavic of Elgin, Ill., the city of basketball players, was chosen captain of the 1928-29 Viking varsity quintet. Jerry is a consistent worker who can play any position on the team in great style and he well deserves the honor bestowed by his 11 teammates. He will have the start of a better than average team for next year, a team that should finish high in both the new Little Four and Midwest conferences as all but one of the 12 lettermen of the last season are sophomores and will return in the fall. Jerry also plays end in football.

GOLF CLUB MAY OPEN PRACTICE LINKS SOON

Good news for Appleton golfers is contained in a statement made Thursday by officers of Butte des Morts County club. The officers said that if the present fine weather holds out practice greens at the club course may be ready for use in approximately two weeks. There is plenty of water standing on the course at present but several sunny days will dry that up and then the links will have to be rolled.

Old officers of the club were reelected by the directors for 1928 at a meeting held last week. They are Seymour Gruner, president; F. E. Schreiber, vice president and H. H. Pelkey, secretary-treasurer.

breaking the conference record with a leap of 9 feet 11 inches. He surprised his rivals as it was his first especially good performance of the year. Incidentally the record he broke had been made a few years before by his brother, Richard Neller, now a star of the University of Wisconsin gymnasium team. None of the placers in the Valley meet are back this year but Neller.

Strutz won his letter in the javelin and pole vault and will be available for both this year. Others returning who should aid the Orange in defense of its title are Clarence Hartung, star dashman, who was ranked next to Johnston last year until declared ineligible, and a fine relay team member; Bob Kuntz, 220-yard dash and half-mile star, who placed in the latter event in the conference meet and in most of the season's meets; Pop, a better than average weight man, especially with the shot, and a low hurdler; Gene Liese, a good sprinter; and Bud Marston, a miler. Beside this several of the sophs who performed last year in junior high schools, seem destined for a big year. The array of youthful distance men is especially promising, a place where strength is needed for this year's team. The sophs all showed up well for Appleton in the conference cross-country race at Manitowish last fall.

WAYLAND ACADEMY ONLY BADGER FIVE LEFT IN TOURNEY

Team on Which Cookson Boys Star Plays Meet Favorite in Second Game

Madison—(AP)—The forecasters were busy Thursday conjuring with the names of eight academies that survived the first round of play in the academy championships here.

Culver, of that city in Indiana, last year's champions, was given a high rating and an excellent chance at the pennant again after its 21 to 9 win over Wheaton academy, of Wheaton, Ill. But Culver faced sturdy competition in Shattuck, Lake Forest and Manlius of Manlius, N. Y., the latter team, after drubbing Northwestern of Lake Geneva, Wis., 35 to 18, outplaying the Badgers all around, looked fit to sustain its high eastern standing in the middle west, although it presents a lighter quintet than Culver and Shattuck and a team which may show defects in its defense against the drives of these heavier outfits.

MEETS MANLIUS FIVE

Manlius Thursday was to meet Wayland of Beaver Dam, Wis., the only Badger school of four entered, to withstand the first round onslaughts. The first Wisconsin team eliminated was Racine college, which was the victim of Castle Heights, Lebanon, Tenn., 29 to 11, in Wednesday's first game.

Frank Cookson led the Wayland scorers with four baskets and a free throw for 9 of 17 points and Al Cookson added two more baskets, the pair scoring six of eight Wayland figures.

Chicago Latin then surprised the tournament followers by a fourth place rally that sent St. John's of Delafield, Wis., out of the championship race, the accuracy of Mathews, St. John's, being met with the long shots of the Latins. Northwestern was the third Badger school to be eliminated.

Chicago Latin meets Castle Heights Thursday afternoon, after which Manlius will have another test, against Wayland of Lake Forest, which defeated Elgin, Ill., academy, 38 to 13. Thursday night goes against Shattuck, winner over Onarga, Ill., military school, 38 to 18. Culver goes against the fast Tabor quintet from Marion, Mass. The latter team was forced into a close overtime contest Wednesday night when Tabor, a substitute of Chicago, sea-sawed the lead back and forth with Tabor until a 13-13 tie was reached. The score was also tied, 7-all, at the half. The final was Tabor 16, Luther 15.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Chances are bright for Oshkosh high school to take its second successive Fox River Valley conference cage title next winter, according to reports from Oshkosh. Dave Liebenston, veteran guard, was elected captain for next year and returning with him will be Curly Pugh, this year's captain, Tidyeh, second high point scorer of the conference this year, and Knutsen, center and guard. Carver is the only regular lost. Pugh and Tidyeh make a great forward pair or Tidyeh could go big at center, making either only a guard or forward for Coach Schneider to fill in with. In addition Oshkosh will have five reserves of the 1928 squad, a number of stars of Coach Warren Wright's second team and Hilsburg, star Oshkosh vocational school, forward, who is returning to high school.

One thing Roundy, famous Madison sport scribe doesn't know about Neenah, unless he refers to the city not the size of the players, is that the team averages six foot two inches and has six five regulars and a first string sub over the sixfoot mark. In his column this week he came through with this, (note the word "little"): "Take it from me no one says a thing about them but this little team from Neenah is mighty small but folks they are great."

As last year, the local industrial league season has ended in a tie between two rivals and as last year it threatens to remain so, which is not good in the eyes of the fans. Last year the Kimberly-Clark Co. of Kimberly and the Fox River Paper five shared the honors and agreed to let it stand that way. This year the Fox River shares the title with the Coated Paper five and both seem anxious to let it go at that.

We think that all bunk and is setting a bad precedent. The last two years there really has been no decisive title champion, though the reason the league is started for in the beginning is to decide a champion ship. If two teams are tied next year and from then on, following precedent they probably will decide to stay tied and then how is the loop title ever to be decided. Fox River claims Kimberly wanted off the playoff last year and the Foxmen agreed. Now it wants to call off the playoff this year, because it was willing to allow it last year.

Two weeks ago the Foxmen said if the loop season ended in a tie they would challenge their rivals, the northwestern district champs, to a three-game series, the best two of three games deciding the title. Now one of their star men has left town and they have changed their minds. Or maybe they think it pretty tough taking four games of five from a foe so maybe the worm will turn in the series. The Foxmen gave the Coated their only two losses during the league season.

Will Manage Emanuel Jack Dempsey, who says and may not fight again, is reported to be managing Armand Emanuel, Pacific coast heavyweight.

JOURNALS LOSE PERIOD GAMES

EXPECT CLOSE RACE IN OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE MEET

London—(AP)—Oxford's crew has shown such improved form in recent workouts that the experts no longer are giving Cambridge a decided edge in forecasting the result when the two crews clash in their annual varsity boat race on the Thames, March 31. There is every prospect now of a close race over the four and a quarter mile course.

HAWLEY MAY RETURN TO COACH DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H.—(AP)—Jesse Hawley will return to Hanover next fall for his sixth year as head coach of Dartmouth football providing his Chicago business does not interfere. Harry Heneage, Graduate manager of Athletics, announced Thursday.

Jay Wilcox, a freshman at Kansas, is being boosted as one of the best sprint prospects in this country today.

Important Person, This Mr. Everett 'Pid' Purdy

BY WERNER LAUFER

Orlando, Fla.—Manager Jack Hendricks' Cincinnati Reds should not be handicapped by a slow start, such as wrecked the club's chances last year, if the present physical condition of the team has anything to do with it. Unless the team acquires a few cripples, the Redlegs should be all set to tear into things when the opening bell rings.

All but the newcomers to the squad have the tan of mid-July, which is a good indication of how many hours have been spent under the broiling Florida sun on the practice field.

For most part the Reds will present the same battle front of last year, with the probability of one or two new outfielders, Everett Virgil Purdy, "Pid" for short, and Martin Callahan, both from Seattle, are the outfield candidates.

LIL' PEPPERBOX To see him scamper over the lea, "Pid" Purdy seems to be the most important individual in camp. The Reds will be assured of a little pepper bag, if nothing else, by putting the Beatrice, Neb., youth in the lineup. He was with the team late last fall after having a sensational year on the coast, and much is expected of him this summer.

Hendricks tells you not to overlook Marty Callahan. National League fans will remember that he once was a member of the Chicago Cubs. He showed up rather well as a hitter but drifted back to the minors nevertheless.

"Sure we have ancient pitchers," Hendricks says, "but all of the good pitchers are old pitchers. Take a look at Alexander, Vance, Haines, Kremer, and you'll see a string of old fellows. Give me the veterans every time."

Donohue and Mays are sure to sign and will join Luque, Rixey, May and Lucas as the first stringers. Of course it would be foolish to say that all will have a big year. But last season's record of this great staff pitcher, was the biggest winner on the club.

Kenneth Ash and Peter William Jablonowski are two of the most promising Red youngsters. Ash has pitched fine ball in the exhibition games and Hendricks points with New Haven, Conn.—(AP)—Phil McGraw, Detroit, and George Day, New Haven, drew (10).

KAUKAUNA FIGHTER HEADS BAY TOURNEY

George Zwick of the Famous Zwick Family in Windup of Card

Green Bay—Harvey Kollman, Green Bay, and George Zwick, Kaukauna, the last of the famous fighting Zwick family, to enter the boxing business, have been matched for the wind-up of a second card of bouts in the Fox River Valley Amateur Boxing Tournament which will be presented in the Columbus auditorium Friday March 30.

The name "Zwick" in Kaukauna has meant "fight" for a decade of years. First came Jack Zwick with his haymakers which brought him a long pole of scalp and brought the fans much excitement some few years ago. Then a new socking Zwick loomed on the horizon and Phil Zwick crowded his way up front to matches with Sangor, "Bud" Taylor and the reputed leaders in his class. Phil has been very much of a favorite about Cleveland for the past two years. One more Zwick remained at home awaiting his turn in the limelight and the first all-valley tournament for amateurs gave him the chance for his ring debut. This will be George's first amateur scrap under the regular club auspices though Kaukauna admirers insist that he is no stranger to the gloves and has kept himself in the pink of condition anticipating an opportunity to match his skill with a real opponent.

TOUGH RIVAL

On the other hand local fans who have followed the fortunes of the amateur boxer for years believe that Zwick, or no Zwick, the Kaukauna had picked a tough customer when he ran into a match with Harvey Kollman. Kollman drew Billy Pappé three times for his opponent at American Legion and Little Chute of Outagamie county and was the best at the time of any the legion presented Pappé took one of the decisions, and Kollman the other two finally asserting his supremacy over the scrappy Pappé by a knockout. In other Legion matches, Zwick, who was from Mike Verbusel and Joe Koskies. The southsider has been training at the community club for his tournament go.

Kollman was matched to meet Rolkovsk, Marquette, in the first series of bouts, but was barred at the last minute because of blood pressure, a condition which he is said to have overcome entirely.

HOT FROM TRAINING CAMPS

Wichita Falls, Tex.—(AP)—With a determination worthy of a place in the regular season records, the Chicago White Sox repeated their victory over Wichita Falls, the Texas League champions, 11 to 9, Wednesday, in spite of some weird pitching and worse fielding. "Speed" Luque, fresh from the sand lot of San Francisco, blew up hopelessly in the fourth inning, and Chalmers Cissell, the expensive shortstop, did the same.

San Francisco—(AP)—Manager Don Bush of the Pittsburgh Pirates announced that whether he started Ray Kremer, Pirate pitching ace, in Thursday's exhibition game would depend upon the weather. If the present cool spell continues, Bush said, he would keep Kremer on the bench.

Sparkie Adams, sparkling second baseman, suffered a bruised mouth when the ball took him had hop in the fourth inning of Wednesday's game which the Seals won, 7 to 2.

Winter Haven, Fla.—(AP)—It won't be long now in the opinion of sportscriters assigned to the spring baseball camps, until the Phillies become almost as famous as "hitless wonders" as was a White Sox team years ago. The Phils got five hits and lost 2 to 1 to the Reading Internationals Wednesday.

Bradenton, Fla.—(AP)—If the 11 to 10 victory the New York Giants pulled out of the fire over the red-hot Boston Americans Wednesday proved anything at all, it demonstrated that Virgil Barnes needs some more training. Virgil wanted into the box in the sixth inning with the Giants leading by six runs. The longer he stayed in the worse he got. The Giants got 20 hits, four of them going to Bill Terry.

Avalon, Catalina Island, Cal.—(AP)—One more batting practice Thursday, and the Chicago Cubs will have finished their spring visit at this island training camp. Another series with coast leaguers starts Friday, and then the eastward journey.

The rookie holdout, Pete Fowler, surprised everyone in Wednesday's interclub game by holding the enemy to three hits and one pass in five innings.

New Orleans—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians were back at their New Orleans camp Thursday enthusing over the brand of pitching displayed in downing another Ohio team, the Columbus American Association club.

Duckey, Underhill and Brown worked for the tribe at Gulfport, Miss., Wednesday and gave theators only six 1.15 in a 7 to 3 victory.

What it takes to make a man pipe-happy, P.A. has!

TAKE a piece of paper and write down all the things you like in a smoke. Then buy a tidy red tin of P.A. and check the tobacco against your list. Open the package and release that tantalizing P.A. fragrance. Load up and light up. One thrill now follows another. You're ready to believe all the fine things you've heard about P.A.

Cool as a jury-foreman, rising to speak. Sweet as his words: "Not guilty." Mild as our interest in a civil suit. Mild and mellow, but with that rich, satisfying tobacco-body that only the world's most popular brand can offer. You can't seem to get enough of tobacco like this! The proof of the puffing is in a pipe packed with P.A. Go get some now and see what a real companion your pipe can be when you put it on the right ration. Just around the corner is a store where they hand out pipe-joy in tidy red tins. Your cue-to-contentment is to get around there now.

TWO full ounces of genuine smoke-joy in every tidy red tin.

One reason why the Italians are able to grow such wonderful fruit and vegetables is that in the northern provinces of their country they have one of the most highly developed systems of irrigation in the world.

A great Italian statesman and patriot, Count Cavour, about the middle of the last century organized a complete system for distributing the water.

The irrigated area is divided into districts, in each of which is an overseer and staff of watchmen who attend to opening and closing the gates which deliver the water into smaller channels. (To Be Continued.)

SPRING INDICATED BY MIGRATION OF BIRDS

New London Man Counts Different Varieties While on Morning Stroll

Special to Post-Crescent New London — The first wave of the annual bird migration has come, according to the Rev. F. S. Dayton. On a walk which took him afield early on Wednesday morning Mr. Dayton noted and catalogued about twelve varieties of birds, some of which are only here for a short period feeding in the woodlands on their migration further north. Crows and prairie larks, the latter a small cousin of the meadow lark which at this period is on its way farther north, have been here for several days, while redwinged black birds are perching and swaying on swamp reeds and catkins. Purple grackles, misnamed by the unfamiliar as blackbirds, have returned in flocks, and a few blue birds add their liquidly sweet notes to the softness of early spring air. Robins have arrived from their winter haunts in Kentucky, Tennessee, and the rice flats of Louisiana and their songs, together with the meadow-lark and tree-sparrow, argue well for the hope that has come to stay. Laplands, often called ground sparrows, have returned to their haunts, as are the red shouldered and red tailed hawks. The only lagging member of the spring procession was the song sparrow, the Rev. Dayton said.

START CLEAN-UP OF NEW LONDON STREETS

Tear Down Old Buildings to Make Way for City Parking Space

Special to Post-Crescent New London — Albert Gesse, city street commissioner, with his crew will begin tearing down the barn back of the city hall and another which is now standing near the American Plywood property, next week. Parts of these barns will be salvaged and used in the erection of a horse barn and machine shed near the city power plant. This is the first step toward cleaning up the lot north of the city to prepare it for use as a public parking space.

Mr. Gesse is beginning to outline his program of street repair and as soon as the frost leaves the ground will begin the summer work. The crew is now engaged in scraping and hauling away refuse and ice from down town streets. West and south sides of business streets, those least touched by the sun, are yet caked with ice. Catch basins, which have caused considerable backing up of water are again in working order, Mr. Gesse says, having all been subjected to a thorough going over on Monday and Tuesday.

DANGER OF FLOOD NO LONGER FELT

Gradual Thawing Has Permitted Rivers to Carry Away Surplus of Water

New London—New London's danger of high water and flood which last week caused much anxiety to property holders in low sections of the city, has been slightly allayed by the gradual thaw of the past week, and the fact that no rain has since fallen. Water in the Embarras and Wolf rivers, according to A. L. Haase, local government weather observer, is raising at the rate of one half inch each day. Following last week's rains, water raised at the rate of a foot every 24 hours. Mr. Haase points out that with no heavy rains, the city may yet escape a flood, it all depending upon the speed with which frost, and ice is broken up. Ice in the river through the city on Wednesday was cracked and rotting fast. The wooden timbers supporting the abutments of the bridge at Northport have risen some distance above the surface of the water, but have yet caused no damage to the bridge. Some repair work will be necessary when the water has again reached its normal level.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PARTY AT NEW LONDON CHURCH

New London—A most attractive and interesting party was given on Wednesday afternoon by the teachers of the primary department of the Congregational Sunday school. About fifty mothers and children were present for the informal program arranged. Favorite songs were sung by the little people, accompaniments being played by Miss Mildred Lyon. Following this, the regular service of the Sunday school was followed out with the Rev. and Mrs. H. P. Freeling in charge. Tables for mothers and children were attractively arranged with Easter colorings and baskets filled with candy eggs as centerpieces. Mrs. Freeling in the time following spoke to the mothers, introducing the teachers, Miss Maud Rand, Mrs. Will Oestrich, Mrs. William Lyon, Miss Alice Fellens, Mrs. Fredericks, Miss Lyon and Mrs. Caldwell, who impressed upon her hearers the need of regular attendance from students of the church school. Mrs. Freeling stated that in the religious training of small children a close adherence to lesson courses is followed. These lessons each depend upon one another for coherence, and the child, in order to derive benefit from these lessons, must have each one. She stressed the need of a certain amount given regularly of religious training. She asked that all mothers of children in the school enforce regular attendance.

Gaudy Stockings Give Way To Conservative Styles

The gaudy, big designs of sport stockings are "out," and conservative little checks and inconspicuous stripes are in. In fact, if you'll notice, Spring is expected to furnish all the bright, colorful this year. Dull, diffused show their prevalence in Appleton shops—and stockings follow the trend.

For afternoon wear, the chiffon stockings which may be obtained in the cotton or the silk. The chiffon stockings should be in

MUST REGISTER AT CITY CLERK'S OFFICE

Appleton voters who neglected to register during the period previous to the primary election and who did not go to the polls to vote and register, but who wish to vote at the final election in April must register with the city clerk at least one day previous to a dawn, atmosphere, flesh, moonlight, of the new casino shades. Popular shades for general wear are Tums, a tan, noon, honey beige, mat and Daphne, which run from tan to brown; misty morn, piping rock, haze, and evening, which belong to the grey family.

WAIT ON DIDDERICH TO BUY FIRE EQUIPMENT

How soon the city of Appleton will get its new fire fighting equipment depends upon how soon the fire and water committee gets together to act on the bids. The bids were opened at the last regular meeting of the council, March 7 and referred to the committee for tabulation. Since then nothing has been done and indications are no meetings will be called until after the return of Alderman John Diderich, chairman of the committee, who is in the east on a business trip.

After eating canned peas, John, the two-year-old son of J. Spear, of Penarth, Wales, became ill and disgorged a large cut diamond. Spear sold the stone for $10 to the man who had sold the peas. A local jeweler later said it appeared to be a Tasmanian diamond and that at one time it had been set in a ring. He valued it at $250.

Washington — President Coolidge's answer to the Wyoming state republican committee neither adds nor subtracts from the situation that existed before the letter was sent.

If the Wyoming republicans expected Mr. Coolidge to alter the position he took in his August and December statements, they adopted their resolution on a mistaken assumption. And if the people who assume Mr. Coolidge is insincere in his expressed desire not to run expect him to change his view before the convention and become an active candidate, they also are mistaken.

And yet all this doesn't preclude the possibility of making Mr. Coolidge the party nominee.

COOLIDGE SINCERE

Only by assuming the absolute sincerity of Mr. Coolidge can the present situation be understood. Mr. Coolidge prefers not to run. He doesn't want to stand in the way of anybody else who does want to run. He is anxious to retire. If the party should fail to agree and a deadlock should ensue, it would be necessary to draft somebody besides an outstanding candidate. There are many Coolidge men who feel that if the party came to such a crisis and sent a message to Mr. Coolidge asking him to serve the party that has honored him and given him his chance in public life, he would accept the call. But there isn't a Coolidge man who has the right to say in advance that the president would accept under those or any other circumstances. He has kept absolutely silent and has stuck to the letter of his promise not to run or be a candidate.

The supposition that Mr. Coolidge would accept is based merely on the belief that Mr. Coolidge would not be ungrateful to the party that had elevated him and that only strong personal reasons of ill-health would justify a refusal to accept a nomination spontaneously tendered him without so much as his having lifted a finger to get the nomination and in the face of his own avowed discouragements of efforts to make him a candidate.

HARD ON HOOVER

Unless Mr. Coolidge's attitude is publicly clarified on the other hand, Hoover's friends will not have an opportunity to develop their maximum strength. And the anti-Hoover people as well as the sincere pro-Coolidge men are taking advantage of the fact that Mr. Coolidge never has definitely closed the door by saying the latest words that Charles Evans Hughes has used, namely "I will not accept if nominated."

"WILL" OF DEAD TORPEDO MAN ONLY RECORD OF S-4

Boston — (AP) — "The last will and testament" of a torpedo man, Roger Leslie Short, of Boonville, Mo., one of the six men who met a slow death in the torpedo room of the sunken submarine S-4, appeared Friday to be the only such document left by the 40 officers and men aboard the craft.

In case of my death please send entire contents of this box to my mother, Mrs. M. C. Short, 504 East Sprague, Boonville, Mo., by Roger L. Short, U. S. N., read a note that apparently had been hastily scribbled and was written in pencil on a piece of white paper.

It was found by the naval board of investigation searching the submarine in a box at the Charlestown Navy yard here and was in a cardboard box in one of the torpedo room lockers.

In the box, soaked with salt water, were bankbooks, cash, insurance and stock certificates, records of enlistments and decorations and a number of letters.

SENATOR DIES

Efforts of physicians to prolong the life of Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris of Michigan proved futile and early Friday morning the 75-year-old veteran of many Michigan political battles died at his Washington, D. C., home. His illness started a little more than a week ago with a heavy cold.

Ferris Dies After Week Of Illness

Veteran Michigan Democratic Senator Succumbs to Severe Attack of Pneumonia

Washington — (AP) — Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, of Michigan, died here at 6:15 Friday morning from an attack of pneumonia. The 75-year-old veteran of many Michigan political battles succumbed after a little more than a week's illness, which began with a heavy cold he could not shake off.

It had been planned to take him to Little Creek as late as Friday if his condition did not improve. That evening, however, he began to break rapidly. Then pneumonia set in, and the efforts of physicians to prolong his life proved futile.

Those at the bedside when the end came were Mrs. Ferris, two sons, Carlton and Phelps Ferris, Mrs. Ferris' mother, John McCloud and Garret Masselink, vice-president of the Ferris institute and college mate of the senator. Since last Saturday, little hope has been held for the recovery of the senator.

Ferris shattered the rock-ribbed resistance of Michigan when he overcame a normal Republican majority of half a million votes and was elected to the United States Senate in 1922. He battered down a sacred tradition of the Wolverine state—a tradition violated for 70 years—that no democrat could be elected to the upper house of congress from Michigan—and won the senate seat from Charles E. Townsend by a margin of 13,000.

"GOOD GRAY GOVERNOR"

Michigan's "good gray governor," as Senator Ferris was called during the two terms he served as the state's executive, was in his seventy-first year when he entered the senate. The first time his name appeared in state political circles was in 1904, when he was the Democratic standard bearer for governor—he threw a scare into the Republican ranks by running ahead of his ticket even in the face of President Roosevelt's popularity and general unpopularity of the Democratic party in Michigan.

On March 7, Senator Ferris announced that because of his age he would not be a candidate for reelection and at the same time came out for the nomination of Senator Washburn of Montana, for the presidency, because he is a d. y.

Ferris' announcement for Walsh was regarded as creating the first split in the theretofore unbroken sentiment among Michigan Democrats for Governor Smith of New York.

Ferris recognized the "greatness" of Smith, but said he had been a dry for 11 years and could not reverse himself. He also wanted to see the "l. g. issue" eliminated.
